How Characteristics of Strategic Management Work Together

The long-term focus necessitates dealing with uncertainty and complexity.

Being top management driven is crucial for effective resource allocation.

Seeking environmental fit requires a dynamic and continuous process of monitoring and adapting.

Being goal-oriented provides the direction for multi-level strategies and assessing overall organizational performance.

The multidisciplinary nature supports the need to understand complexity and achieve environmental fit.